

CITY TRUSTEES HOLD BUSY MEETING
MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS COME UP
Bid of San Francisco Steel Products Company Reported Invalid Because Check Irregularly Certified

The city trustees held a very busy meeting on Monday night last. W. A. Price, city clerk, advised the board that the check of the San Francisco Steel Products Company, which firm a bid was awarded on September 19 to furnish cast iron pipe for the water department, was irregularly certified to and consequently the award was illegal. The matter was further complicated by the information presented by an engineer that the pipe being furnished by the San Francisco Steel Products Company is manufactured in Belgium. Investigation showed that the towns of Fulton and Glenview had recently cancelled the contracts, owing to irregularities in bidding.

After considerable debate by the members it was agreed to refer the whole matter to City Attorney Manly to have him take the question up with the firm so it may have an opportunity to explain its position. Manly and other members of the board were for immediate revocation of the contract, believing that it was not a wise policy for Redwood City to buy its materials in a foreign market.

More Street Improvements
The city attorney presented resolutions calling for improvements on streets, Browder and Duane streets, Redwood Highlands. The work is to be similar to that to be done on the other streets in that section, bids for which are to be opened by the board next Monday night.

To Elevate Awnings
George Kroes called attention to the fact that many awnings in front of business houses are so low as to be dangerous and dangerous to pedestrians. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance to regulate the construction of awnings and prescribe the minimum height from sidewalks.

A recommendation came in from the board of fire underwriters of the city coast that a 750-gallon pump-multiplovers were

CAUSE OF DAMAGE SUIT
Judgment for $2,674, with interest from March 16, 1921, was given by Judge Busch this week against the Exchange of California in favor of John Zaro and John Deppol, banana ranchers.

The ranchers had contracted to supply the city with bananas at a fixed price, but the bottom dropped out of the market and the exchange refused to take the bananas, claiming that the shipments are handled on consignment.

J. J. Bullock was attorney for the ranchers.

SAN CARLOS HAS NO PEEVE AGAINST IMBODEN

Daniel C. Imboden, the competent secretary of the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce, has intimated that the people of San Carlos are opposed to him for his attitude on the speedway proposition. Such is not the fact. The citizens of San Carlos have no ill feeling in the matter whatever. The speedway site was secured solely on its merits. Jack Prince, who constructed all the speedways in the state, looked over the San Carlos property and at once selected it as an ideal place for the speedway. No finer place could have been selected in the county.

Kenneth M. Green, formerly a resident of San Mateo but for the past four years living in San Francisco, has been appointed assistant in the office of the United States district attorney. Mr. Green takes the place of Robert B. McMillan, who resigned several days ago. Mr. Green was an aspirant for the district attorneyship of this county a number of years ago, but was defeated by the present district attorney, Franklin Swart. EDWARD SWARTZ WILL BE TRIED FOR GRAND LARCENY

In addition to having to answer to the charge of larceny and being defendant in a suit for annulment of his latest marriage, Edward Swartz will be tried on a charge of grand larceny. He was up before Judge Griffin this week and admitted his guilt on the last named charge. He is not so long. Not very long ago he was married to Florence Goldberg in San Mateo, though it is alleged that he has a wife living in Salt Lake City. While at the Goldberg home it is stated he appropriated a lavallier belonging to Mrs. Fanny Goldberg, and it is for this that he is to answer. Suit to annul the marriage to Florence Goldberg is pending in the superior court.

REDWOOD CITY HAS FINEST APRICOTS

But few people realize that the finest apricots in the state are grown in Redwood City. This is a fact. Last week a jar of the preserved fruit was awarded first prize at the fair at Calistoga, Sonoma county. Last summer a friend of F. H. Bartlett, attorney for the California Pacific Title Insurance Company, who maintains a home in Finger Grove, near town, visited him. He took home with him a box of apricots grown in the Bartlett orchard and his wife put them up in neat glass jars. These were exhibited at the Calistoga fair last week and were awarded first prize. The judge only taking a few minutes to make the award, so delicious looking was the fruit.

Herron, and this will be heard later. The motion for a stay of judgment was denied by the court, who remanded the prisoner to the custody of the sheriff. Hightower appears to be well pleased with his new quarters at San Quentin. There he will be known as No. 34,458. He has been put to work in the jail mill, though he expressed a desire to take a job in the bakery.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC REQUESTED TO ROUTE PASSENGERS OVER DUMBARTON

Peninsula Bureau Discussed Train Service at Meeting in San Mateo Last Evening

At a meeting of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Organizations at San Mateo last evening the question of urging the Southern Pacific Company to divert a portion of its valley travel over the Dumbarton bridge through San Mateo county was discussed and debated at length. This is certainly a move in the right direction. Should the company agree to send a number of trains now going into Oakland from interior points it would be a big thing for San Mateo county and particularly for Redwood City, as the trains coming across the bay would most likely stop here to take on passengers. This section of the state has been neglected by the Southern Pacific Company. It has always discriminated in favor of Oakland and the other side of the bay. With a portion of the interior travel coming through the county much good would result. The peninsula would get advertising that it would not otherwise secure. The following letter prepared by the bureau will be sent today to William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Company. It ably sets forth all the facts and is worth reading:

"Dear Sir: This organization has been making a careful study to determine the commercial and industrial problems necessary of solution to insure the future development of the peninsula as a nature intended, because of its immediate proximity to one of the greatest natural harbors in the world, with all the deep water lying along its shores, and because of its relation to the interior of California. When a problem is determined by the Peninsula Bureau its immediate solution is undertaken.

"Our survey develops the fact that San Mateo county and San Francisco have no direct passenger train service with the interior of Northern California, although the best natural physical route is available. This route is via Dumbarton cutoff, Niles and Livermore line of the Southern Pacific Company.

"Investigation shows that all of the 47 passenger trains between San Francisco and the interior of Northern California have Oakland as their terminal. At least 12 of these trains could serve San Francisco passengers better via Dumbarton and Niles, giving an uninterrupted service and in less time.

"The route via Dumbarton avoids congested territory and eliminates a ferry transfer.

"The existing situation, due to no direct passenger service with the interior, is most detrimental to the county and to San Francisco from a community development and trade point of view. The Peninsula Bureau feels that it is justified in asking the Southern Pacific Company to place the peninsula on equality with Oakland territory with respect to direct passenger service with the interior of the state because:

"1. The Dumbarton cutoff is the practical and logical route.

"2. For business reasons.

"San Mateo county and San Francisco give your company more traffic than any other community on the Southern Pacific lines and we feel that reciprocity alone entitles the peninsula to be placed on the main line to the interior.

"The Peninsula Bureau, therefore, petitions the Southern Pacific Company to put in effect a passenger train schedule that will place San Francisco and the peninsula on an equality with Oakland territory with respect to direct service to and from the interior, and we suggest as an immediate remedy the rerouting of trains via Dumbarton instead of Oakland and via Dumbarton, Niles and Livermore instead of Oakland and Martinez. These items are picked out because it is obvious that it requires no extended investigation to determine that the Dumbarton cutoff is the natural route for these trains to enter San Francisco.

"This arrangement of schedules will provide via San Mateo county:

"a. One train from San Francisco direct to Reno and Hazen, Nev.

"b. Two trains from San Francisco direct to Sacramento and one to San Francisco.

"c. Two trains from San Francisco direct to Stockton and two to San Francisco.

"The route via Dumbarton cutoff is 13 miles longer than via Oakland, but the time is less, due to avoiding congestion at Oakland and elimination of ferry transfer.

"d. One train each way between San Francisco and Fresno.

"e. One train each way between San Francisco and Bakersfield.

"The route via Dumbarton, Niles and Livermore is but three miles longer than via Oakland and Martinez, but the time would be much less via Dumbarton.

"The Southern Pacific routes all of its freight traffic between San Francisco and interior points via Dumbarton cutoff, which puts San Mateo county on the main line in respect to freight service and we feel that from every point of view San Mateo county should be on the main line with respect to passenger service."

THE PEACE TREATY

The people of the whole country rejoice at the ratification of the administration's peace treaty with Germany, Austria and Hungary in the senate on Monday night. Numerous able speeches were made on the ratification by the senators. The ablest address, however, was delivered by California's junior senator, Samuel M. Shortridge. He said in part as follows:

"We are charged with a very grave duty at this hour and it seems to me that our first thought, our first concern, should be for America. However much we may sympathize with other nations, however much we may desire peace, to enrich all peoples, however much we are devoted to the uplifting of mankind at large, our first thoughts are here; our first duty is to America. I implore you, wrong motive. I do not by indirect intention intend to do so when I inquire why the concern manifested over Germany? Why the solicitude which seems to be manifest for Germany? He left naked to her enemies, stripped of power and thereby inviting invasion from nations round about."

"Let it not be misunderstood. I say that, inasmuch as Germany, not under coercive pressure, has already ratified and approved the pending treaty, we might well dismiss any fear as to her future and limit our thoughts as to what she now thinks of this treaty or its effect upon her individually or collectively as a nation under her present form of government or any other which she may adopt."

"It seems to me appropriate, as collateral to the discussion here, that I be said that we did not take war on Germany. I have heard some hold the opinion that our country was at fault at the beginning of or during the late war. I do not. We were not the aggressors. We saw Serbia invaded, we saw Belgium outraged, we saw France assaulted, we saw the Lusitania sink, did we not? And feeble age and hopeful youth and wondering infancy go to their death, a crime and a sin which has never been punished."

"Highly provoked, we saw all these things, we saw more, first with amazement and finally with just wrath and indignation, each and every and all the rules and principles of modern warfare, which has been mitigated by time, trampled on, scoffed at, violated. We saw this, we suffered by it and yet we remained neutral. We were urged to remain neutral. The world was told that we were 'too proud to fight'."

"I do not wish to provoke a controversial spirit by the reference—and he who told the world that we were too proud to fight was returned to power because he 'kept us out of war.' I allude to it merely to say that it was the utterance of a mistaken statesman and that the people, in that respect, perhaps, were deluded. But finally the pent up, long restrained wrath of this outraged nation burst forth and on April 6, 1917, we declared that a state of war existed between us and Germany."

"We are now asked, however, to enter into this solemn agreement with Germany. We are asked to sign more than we are entitled to, perhaps not as much as in justice we are entitled to, but the president, having due regard to local national and international relations and facts, has submitted to us here this document. True, we have a right to test it to pieces. We have a right to reject it in toto. We have a right to amend it, to add to or take from it, for I love to think that the senate has not abdicated. Those far away who may criticize the senate and say that it is slow in its deliberations might well remember what it has done for the liberties of this nation, and that it is, after all, the great conservative deliberative branch of this great government."

"What we have seen, and, gracious God, what dangers we have avoided and escaped from, because brave men sitting in this senate chamber—the great senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Lodge), the great senator from Idaho (Mr. Borah), from Connecticut (Mr. Brandegee), from my own state of California (Mr. Johnson)—stood here in this place and saved the United States from being engulfed in the European wars which are raging today, even as my poor words are spoken."

"There are many advantages coming to us by entering into this treaty, and, not in the way of offense, challenge, I would intellectually challenge any senator to point out any disadvantages that are to come to us from entering into this treaty. I suppose it is proper to balance advantages with disadvantages, and whereas there are many advantages, as have been pointed out, I have not heard of any disadvantage which will come to us by entering into this agreement."

GIVE 'EM A GLAD HAND

Redwood City is overlooking and is being overlooked in its opportunity for admirable publicity. Every day a bus loaded with tourists makes the trip from San Francisco to Palo Alto. These tourists are from all parts of the United States and other countries. They pass Redwood City without stopping. And things of interest here as well as further along the road. Why not make an effort to have the sightseeing company put Redwood City down for a stop and then give the glad hand to the visitors? They would then have a better idea of California hospitality.

PACIFIC PROBLEMS' PRIORITY

There is a movement on foot to make the problems of the Pacific the first subject of discussion at the conference that convenes in Washington on Armistice Day. After they have been settled, if indeed a settlement can be found, the question of limitation of armaments will then be taken up and considered. The suggestion is a wise one. Of course the nation is going to consent to lessening of its defensive strength if the dangers that threaten it are to be as menacing as before. If the causes of discontent are first eliminated there is some chance that a lightening of the burden of huge armaments may be achieved.

MORE SUBS

Secretary of the Navy Donahy has issued a strong plea for the construction of more seagoing submarines. A glance at the relative strength of the United States and Japan in that arm of defense gives evidence of the sound basis upon which the secretary is making his argument. According to one naval authority in the event of a future war in the Pacific this country would have only six submarines, while Japan would have 66. That shows 11 to 1, a fact that ought to be taken into consideration by the nation.

PRACTICAL TRAINING

Over 500 students compose the class in foreign service which recently began its fourth year at Georgetown University. Interest in the course in diplomacy has increased from year to year, as the opportunities for service in the foreign field have become manifest. Other institutions of learning are offering similar advantages to their students and the result is bound to be a marked gain in American prestige abroad in the commercial and diplomatic fields.

LESSON ENOUGH

Hudson Maxim told an Atlantic City audience that a merchant marine was as necessary to us in time of peace as a navy is in time of war. He was right. Trade routes for trade boats, if we are to succeed, and trade boats are mighty helpful to a navy if we should be called on to uphold our rights. We have had lesson enough in both phases of the matter to warn us against the idea of surrendering the sea to foreign competitors.

U. S. PERSONNEL UNCHANGED

Regardless of how the foreign delegations to the armaments conference may be made up, there will be no change in the personnel of the American group, according to announcements from Washington. The members of the team selected to represent the United States are as competent to present American views and protect American rights as any larger number could possibly be.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday morning. W. H. Toepke, architect for the new county hospital, reported that construction work was progressing nicely on the building the foundation having been completed, the side walls now being built and that the pouring of concrete would start in about ten days. He stated that the survey had been made for the pipe line to connect with the Spring Valley Water Company's main line on the highway. He said work had progressed far enough to consider the appointment of a superintendent of construction.

J. A. Barrett of Barrett & Hill, who have the contract for the general construction discussed the water supply. He explained that he was now securing what water was necessary from the Murryran place adjoining the hospital site, but that he did not know how long he would be able to continue this arrangement. He said if the board intended connecting with the Spring Valley Water Company's lines it would be a good idea to do so at once. Supervisor MacBain said the present plan of securing water was satisfactory and he didn't see any reason for immediate action. The matter of appointing a superintendent of construction was then taken up. Supervisor Brown moved that L. P. Norburg be selected. Before the roll call was taken Supervisor Francis moved that the names of the various applicants for the job be read. They were L. P. Norburg, P. D. Jarvis, James H. Stack and Walter Scott. Supervisor Hickey said the person named for the job should be an active and young man and one fully qualified in every way to hold the responsible position. He suggested either Stack or Scott for the appointment, both being competent. Supervisor Norburg spoke in favor of Norburg, saying he was well qualified to fill the position. Norburg was selected by a vote of three to two. Brown, Francis and Thompson voting for him and Hickey and MacBain against. J. J. Shields, county auditor, requested an appropriation of $400 to compile the annual statistical report of the county. The request was granted. Percy Hutchings, chairman of the committee in charge of the big Armistice Day celebration to be held at San Mateo on November 11, sent in a communication telling of the plans for the day and asking co-operation by the supervisors. The communication was ordered filed, it being the understanding that the members of the board would attend. In connection with the celebration Supervisor MacBain requested permission to allow the Companions of the Forest in Menlo Park to use one of the county's trucks to convey the members to the celebration. The request was granted. A. H. Oswald, representing the state board of forestry, told of plans to erect a lookout station on Castle Rock on the Judge Welch property back of Saratoga to aid in fire prevention work. The cost of construction will be $1500. Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties have contributed $500 each and San Mateo county was requested to make a similar appropriation, the state to maintain the station. The request was granted. The report of J. R. Eubanks, superintendent of the county farm and hospital, for August, filed with the board, showed that 55 inmates had been cared for during that time, three having been discharged.

A claim for $180 for care of a worthy family at the county hospital suffering from diphtheria, was presented and allowed. Auditor Shields' monthly report was presented and ordered filed. The question of endorsement of the Greater San Francisco Speedway Association was taken up. Hickey said the supervisors should not go on record as endorsing an private enterprise. Mrs. Brown said the endorsement was merely an act of courtesy and did not obligate the county in any way. The endorsement was

BIG CIRCUS COMING

Palmer Brothers' World's Greatest three-ring wild animal circus will exhibit in Redwood City Monday, October 24.

It is enough to justify anyone in taking an interest in this event, for the show contains nothing but the highest class acts, one act alone, that of the jungle bred African lions, would more than repay you for the trip to this mammoth enterprise. Then the roller skating acts is another that should not be missed. It is in keeping with their original policy that the owners have built in the past few years an enviable reputation, and while it is not the largest, it has gained the right, and justly so, to be called the world's greatest wild animal circus.

This show travels in its own trail and carries hundreds of people and stock. Every species of wild animals will be exhibited in the great parade on the streets, so don't miss this wonderful pageant.

This will be the greatest tented or caisson traveling in the great country this season.

FUNERAL OF DAVID SOLARI HELD AT PITTSBURG
Redwood City people who knew David A. Solari will be interested to know that funeral services were held for him at Antioch Catholic church last week. He lost his life while fighting with the American forces in the Argonne Forest, France, on September 29, 1918. The remains were brought to Pittsburg, Cal., last week. Interment was in the Italian cemetery at Colma.

He was the son of Mr. Rose Solari and brother of Louis F. Solari and Mrs. Mary Enes and Mrs. Priscilla Foran. He was a nephew of Mrs. A. Botto and David Solari of this city. In the service he was a member of Company G, 362d Infantry, 91st division.

Young Solari was the only Pittsburg boy to lose his life in the world war and the returned veterans of that place honored his memory by naming the American Legion post after him.

ROSSELL HEIRS WANT ESTATE ADMINISTERED
Frank Russell has applied in the superior court for letters of administration upon the estate of Clara Chase Rossell, who died some years ago at Redwood City. The estate consists of real property in San Mateo county of an unknown value. The heirs at law are the petitioner and the following children: Hubert Rossell, aged 15; Jane Rossell, aged 12; Wallace Rossell, now Wallace Taggart, aged 9; James T. O'Keefe is the attorney for petitioner.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

Lambert & Walter have been quite busy recently with realty matters outside of Redwood City. In the Selby tract they sold for the account of Frederick R. Kempf to Fred W. Butler, for cash, his residence on Atherton avenue and a portion of his acreage.

In Burlingame they have closed up numerous sales of bungalows and lots and have just sold the prominent corner opposite the Standard Oil station at San Mateo, which is to be improved by the purchaser.

At San Carlos, after two months' negotiations, the Greater San Francisco Speedway Association bought from them 90 acres of the Phelps estate and 26 acres adjoining from S. Allard and others. The speedway project is a very important business enterprise for San Mateo county, ranking next to the Pacific Studios.

Dave L. Walter reports that the Motor Car Dealers' Association of San Francisco has officially indorsed the new speedway. The total investment there will be $400,000 and December 11 the first races will be held. The location could hardly be a better one, as it is on the east side paved highway, almost opposite the San Carlos depot.

At Burlingame today Mr. Walter and Kenneth Paul, the Burlingame manager for their firm, are going to help entertain the directors of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and other invited guests at a luncheon and automobile trip over the section from Burlingame south, which will include an official inspection of the Pacific Studios. For the benefit of the visitors one of the producing companies now working there will film some of the scenes of their new picture, the title of which has not been given out yet.

Why let the state divide your property?

In California when a man neglects to make a Will, his estate is distributed according to the inflexible laws of the state.

These laws are intended to be fair and equitable, but it is obvious that they cannot cover special cases—and the records prove that many cases are special.

Why not regard the making of your Will in the light of a practical business transaction?

If the Bank of Italy is named as your executor, your estate will be carefully, efficiently, and economically administered.
